

Poking bin

- Massive wooden shelf, which is mounted in the enclosure.
- On every shelf there is a hole (see picture 2).
- The front is covered with a transparent, thick plastic door, which has slots lined up with each level through which the apes can access the shelves. This door must be locked very well.
- Put pellets or other bits of food on every shelf (particularly on the top one).
- There is a hole in the bottom-shelf. The apes have to use a tool (give them a stick) to get the tidbits out of the poking bin.
